The Department of Visual and Media Arts at Emerson College seeks a full-time Production Designer-in-Residence to be appointed on an annual term basis, with the potential for ongoing renewal. The initial appointment is for the 2013-14 academic year beginning August 28, 2013.

An M.F.A degree is strongly preferred but candidates with significant professional experience are also strongly encouraged to apply. College-level teaching experience is an advantage. Candidates will teach a variety of production design courses in film and/or television, ranging from beginner to advanced. The ability to teach both traditional and digital design skills (including industry standard computer modeling & visualization software), along with the ability to teach set construction (or effective supervision of construction) are required. Professional experience in scenic design for theater is also desirable.

Responsibilities include teaching courses within the Department of Visual and Media Art's B.A. and B.F.A. programs with a view towards developing an interdisciplinary program with Emerson's Performing Arts Department. The successful candidate must have a strong record of professional achievement in production design and/or art direction for film and television that includes national and/or international recognition.
