We observe the story through David's eyes,
never knowing the full story, or in fact his full story

His experience of events, outside of the moments of action and intervention,
are see from afar, through doors, watching others conversations

Light and shadow, truth and lies,
'good' and 'evil' are fluid things throughout the story

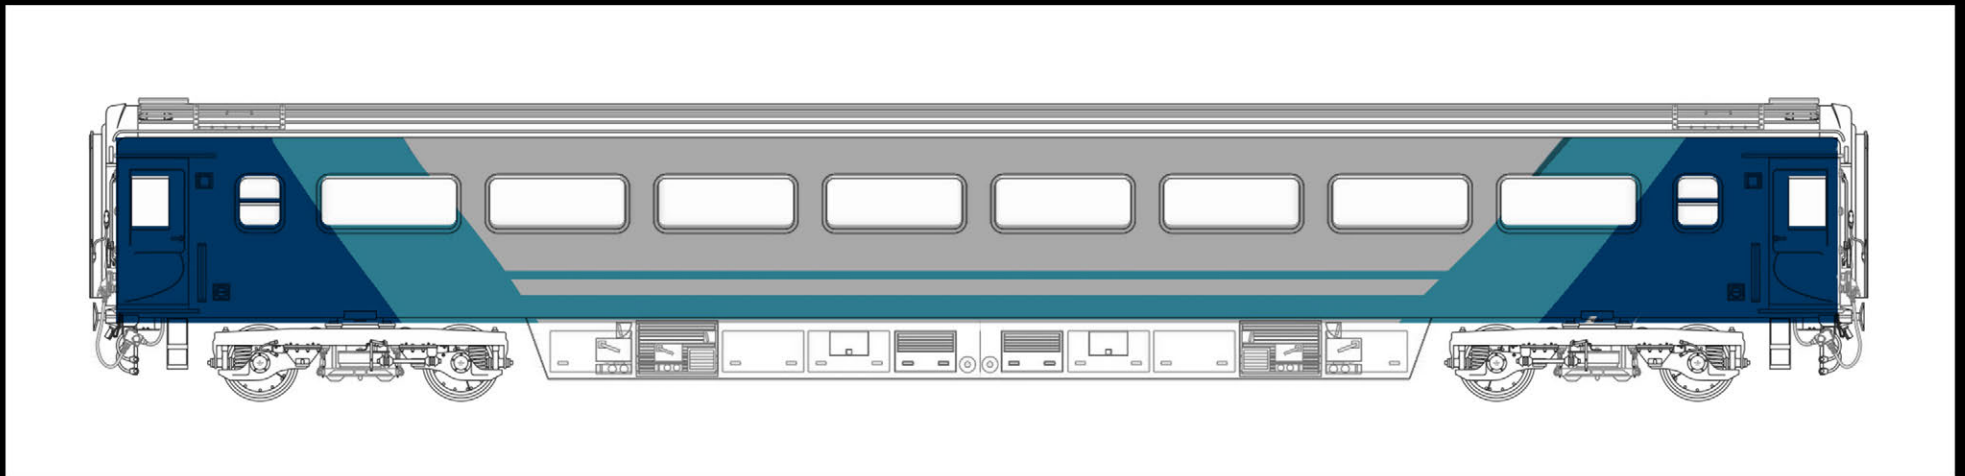

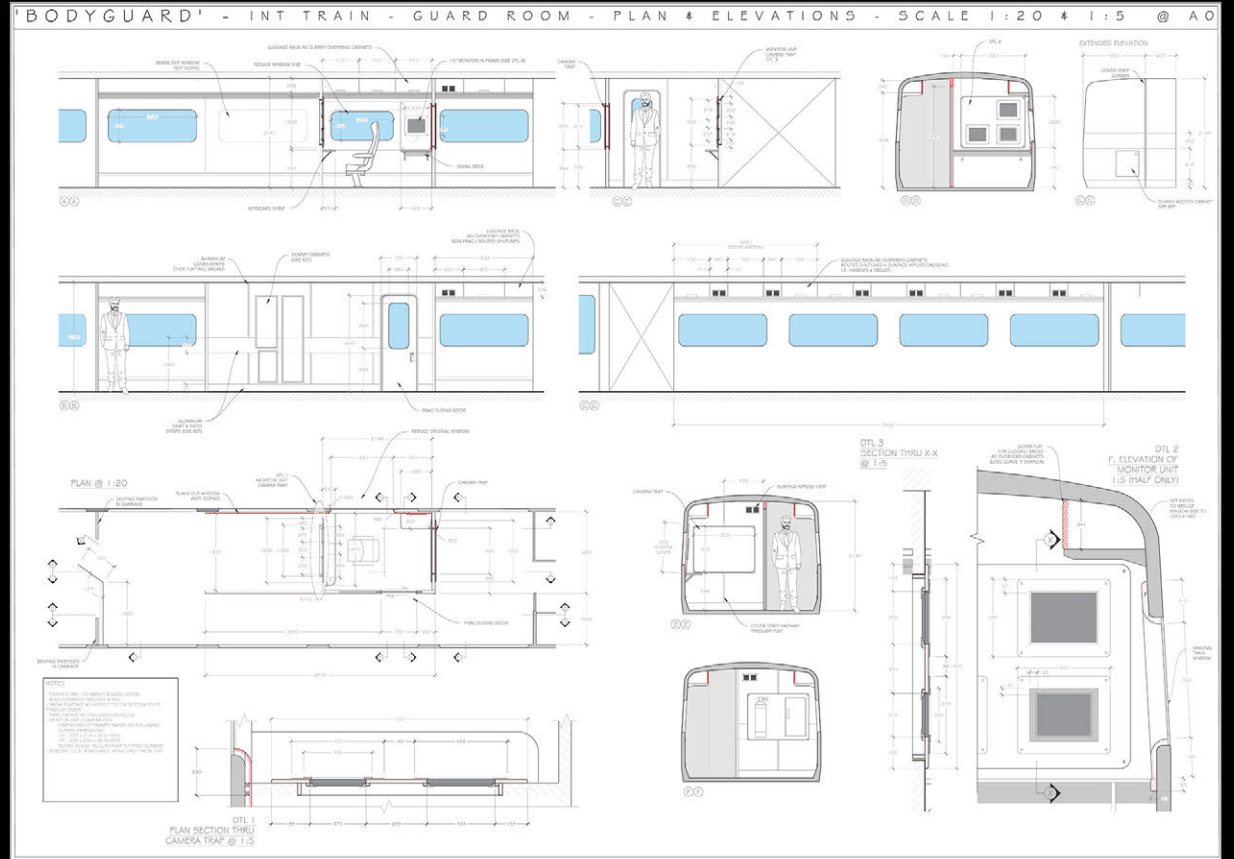

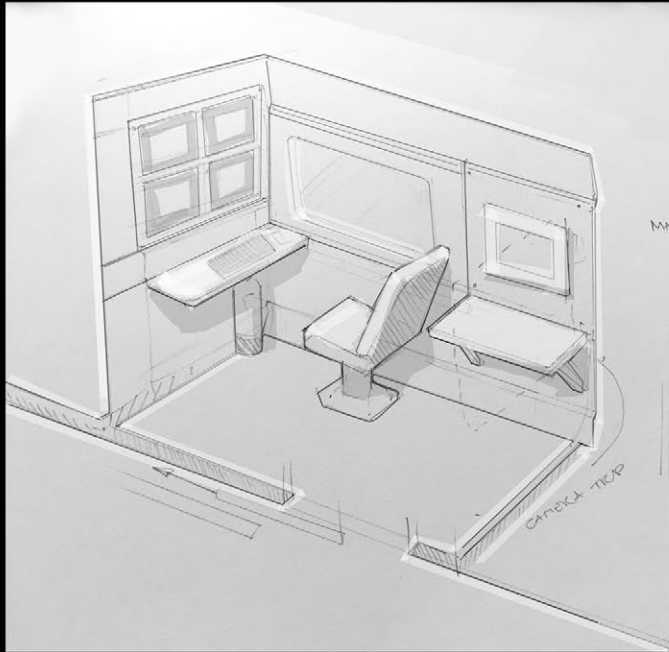

The architecture in our story should help us understand the scale of the machines of state.
Corridors lead on forever
