

CHILLING ADVENTURES  OF SABRINA

- DESIGNING A CHILLING ADVENTURE

- It starts with a pen and blank sheet of paper. Once the first strokes are down, the seed is planted and the forest can grow. And oh did our forest grow!*

"All the objects—organic and inorganic alike—were totally beyond description or even comprehension. Gilman sometimes compared the inorganic masses to prisms, labyrinths, clusters of cubes and planes, and Cyclopean buildings; and the organic things struck him variously as groups of bubbles, octopi, centipedes, living Hindoo idols, and intricate Arabesques roused into a kind of ophidian animation."

— H.P. Lovecraft, The Dreams in the Witch House
