NIGHTSHADE LIBRARY

1. The body is covered in a thick, scaly skin.
 2. The face is large and grotesque, with wide, staring eyes and a gaping mouth.
 3. The limbs are long and thin, with sharp claws on the hands and feet.
 4. The figure is cowering and hunched over, suggesting a state of fear or submission.
 5. The overall appearance is that of a monstrous, deformed creature.

Born of mutation, the Hyle has descended until controlled by a traumatic event or unbalanced through chemical imbalance or hypnosis.

This act causes the Hyle to develop an innermost bond with its master, who the creature now sees as its master. It becomes the willing instrument of whatever nefarious agenda the master proposes.
