The ultimate man-cave Stella bar. Feels very nostalgic, there's a bit of dust on unused items. Warm organic glow from neon, and mismatched fluorescent tubes in fixtures. It's his pride and joy and it's gotten much better through the years. His eBay watchlist is all Stella items. Grandpa's fishing gear is on the top shelf.

Utilizing a lot of the current items (especially the plaid sofa) but pairing it with some even more simplistic items. Thinking not like a designer at all, but a family that slowly just acquired comfortable stuff. They've never stepped inside of a Crate & Barrel and don't know what a "Timothy Oulton" is.

HOME / Dining Room Set Decor

They host a lot of family dinners with extended family as well, so they like to keep it pretty organized, but that also comes off really boring. It does the job. They tried. The hutch is nice, probably passed down from the grandma. The curtains were a black friday splurge.

HOME / Backyard Set Decor

Everyone knows this is the house to be at for summer and game day. They've got all the fun stuff, it's not top of the line but it all gets the job done.

HOME / Living Room Set Decor - HOLIDAY

Festive, but not a scream to Christmas. Holiday lights in the windows, some festive pillows and smalls here and there. Simple garland and candles across the sofa table. It's super cozy, but the living room in the Christmas movie they're watching looks a lot better.

They brought out the nice serveware that no one is really sure where came from. The table cloth has been waiting for this special moment. The kids helped set the table, some nice store-bought garland runs down the center of the table with Plates give an homage to the Stella chalice with their gold rim.
